THE YONAHIAN 1975

Piedmont College

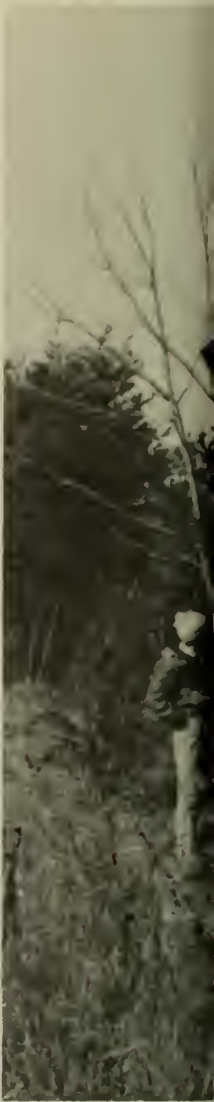

In 1889 Northeast Georgia bore a strong resemblance to the primeval wilderness. It was pierced by a few corduroy roads. As any old settler knows, these were formed by laying saplings across the roadbed. As these inevitably sunk in the mud, new saplings would be cut and laid in place, until in time you had a substantial, if somewhat bumpy road. It was tolerable at three miles an hour, rough at five miles an hour and would launch you into orbit at ten miles an hour.*

*Copy on pages 2-16 was taken from Demorest in the Piedmont by Isabel Chrisler.

Since forests were abundant, the houses too, were made of wood. Half of the houses were log cabins. The remainder were one-or two-story frame houses. In the old times the frame houses were rarely painted, the out-houses never.

There was a room on the first floor of Butler Hall which had been first as a store, and later as a gymnasium. The physical culture craze had reached Northeast Georgia.

Aunt Olive Van Hise had taken physical training in the summer school of the University of Wisconsin. Her uniform consisted of bloomers, topped by a long-sleeved middie blouse. The bloomers were made of 44 inch width, thick blue wool serge. The legs were measured from the waist to the top of your foot. You sewed up the stride, then pleated the double width of 88 inches into a waistband. Each 44 inch leg was fitted with elastic and hemmed at the bottom. Now the elastic bottom was pulled above each knee, and the bloomers would fall to a decorous length half-way between the knee and the foot.

We gave an exhibition of exercises to raise money for gymnasium equipment. People came from miles around to see it. Our costumes occasioned such comments of immodesty and indecency that the trustees met and decreed that we must nevermore appear in public in that costume. Hereafter we would be obliged to wear dresses.

As early as 1890 a group of real estate promoters from a number of Northern states, primarily New England and the Midwest, became interested in Habersham County. Its pleasant climate and primitive condition suggested the possibility of a prohibition town with high moral standards. They organized the "Demorest Home Mining and Improvement Company," with a capital stock of $1,500,000.

Demorest gets its name from W. Jennings Demorest, who was a leading prohibition speaker and leader of the 1890's. Mr. Demorest never found the opportunity to respond to the honor with a visit.

Both Demorest papers were slanted toward Prohibition. Their stories and verse usually accented this bias, as this sample indicates:

Little drops of Porter, little sips of stout,
Make the breathing shorter, and will aid
the gout;
And these slight derangements (trifling tho they be)
Prompt on other ailments or some malady.

Little sips of liquor, little sips of ale;
Pulses beating quicker, faces grim and pale;
Mixtures alcoholic, be they what you
please,
Will increase a colic, or a heart disease.

Little drops of Burton, little sips of wine,
Are a sure and certain health-destroying sign.

Little drops of Allsop, little drops of Bass, Take away the senses and make a man an ass.

In the county of Habersham there was one small, one-room schoolhouse. The site now has become the vineyard of Miss Lillian McKee. The school year consists of a six-week session in the summer between cultivation and harvest, and from two to three months in the winter, dependent on the disposition of the weather.

School books were not furnished. Compositions were accomplished on slates, which, of course, were furnished by the parents. The peculiarities of the medium furnished one form of childish delight. You could hold the slate pencil perpendicular, press down hard and draw it across the slate. The resulting blood-curdling screech was a delight to the pupil, but somewhat disconcerting to the instructor. Cleaning of the slate was accomplished with judiciously applied saliva, rubbed dry with elbow. This method was denied me. My parents furnished a nondescript rag and the injunction, "No spitting." Sometimes the rag got all the way to school with me.

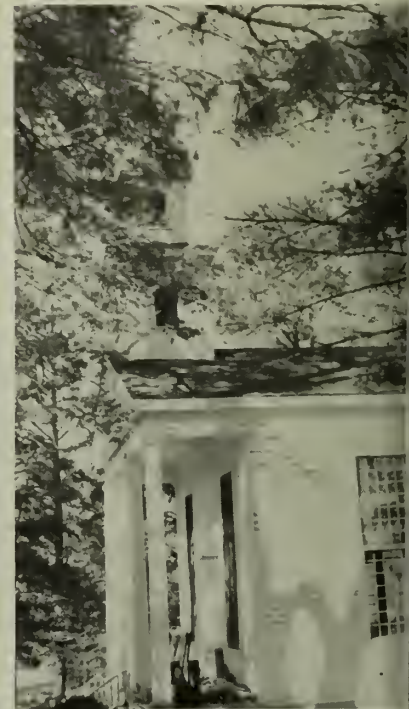

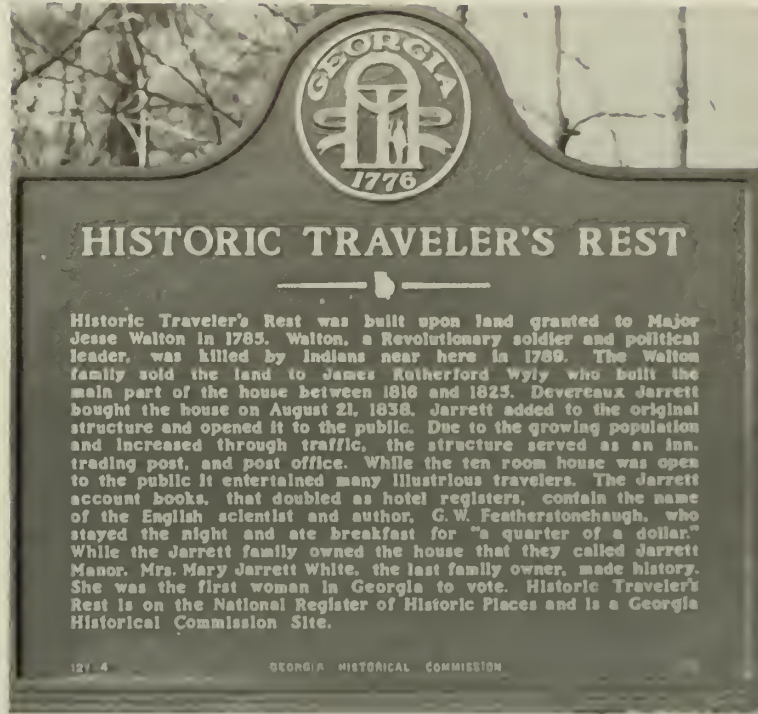

The Demorest Bath Tub Works in 1890 occupied a large building, 30' x 100' and two stories high. It was about two hundred feet east of the railroad track.

Very few houses in the nineties were equipped with bathrooms. Accordingly the factory advertised folding bath tubs that would not disfigure a handsome parlor, or any other room in the house. Regular bath tubs were also furnished. They were made of wood and lined with galvanized tin. One end was perpendicular, the other sloped. Ends, sides and bottom were soldered together. Sometimes, when occupied by a 200-pound man, the tub would spring a leak.

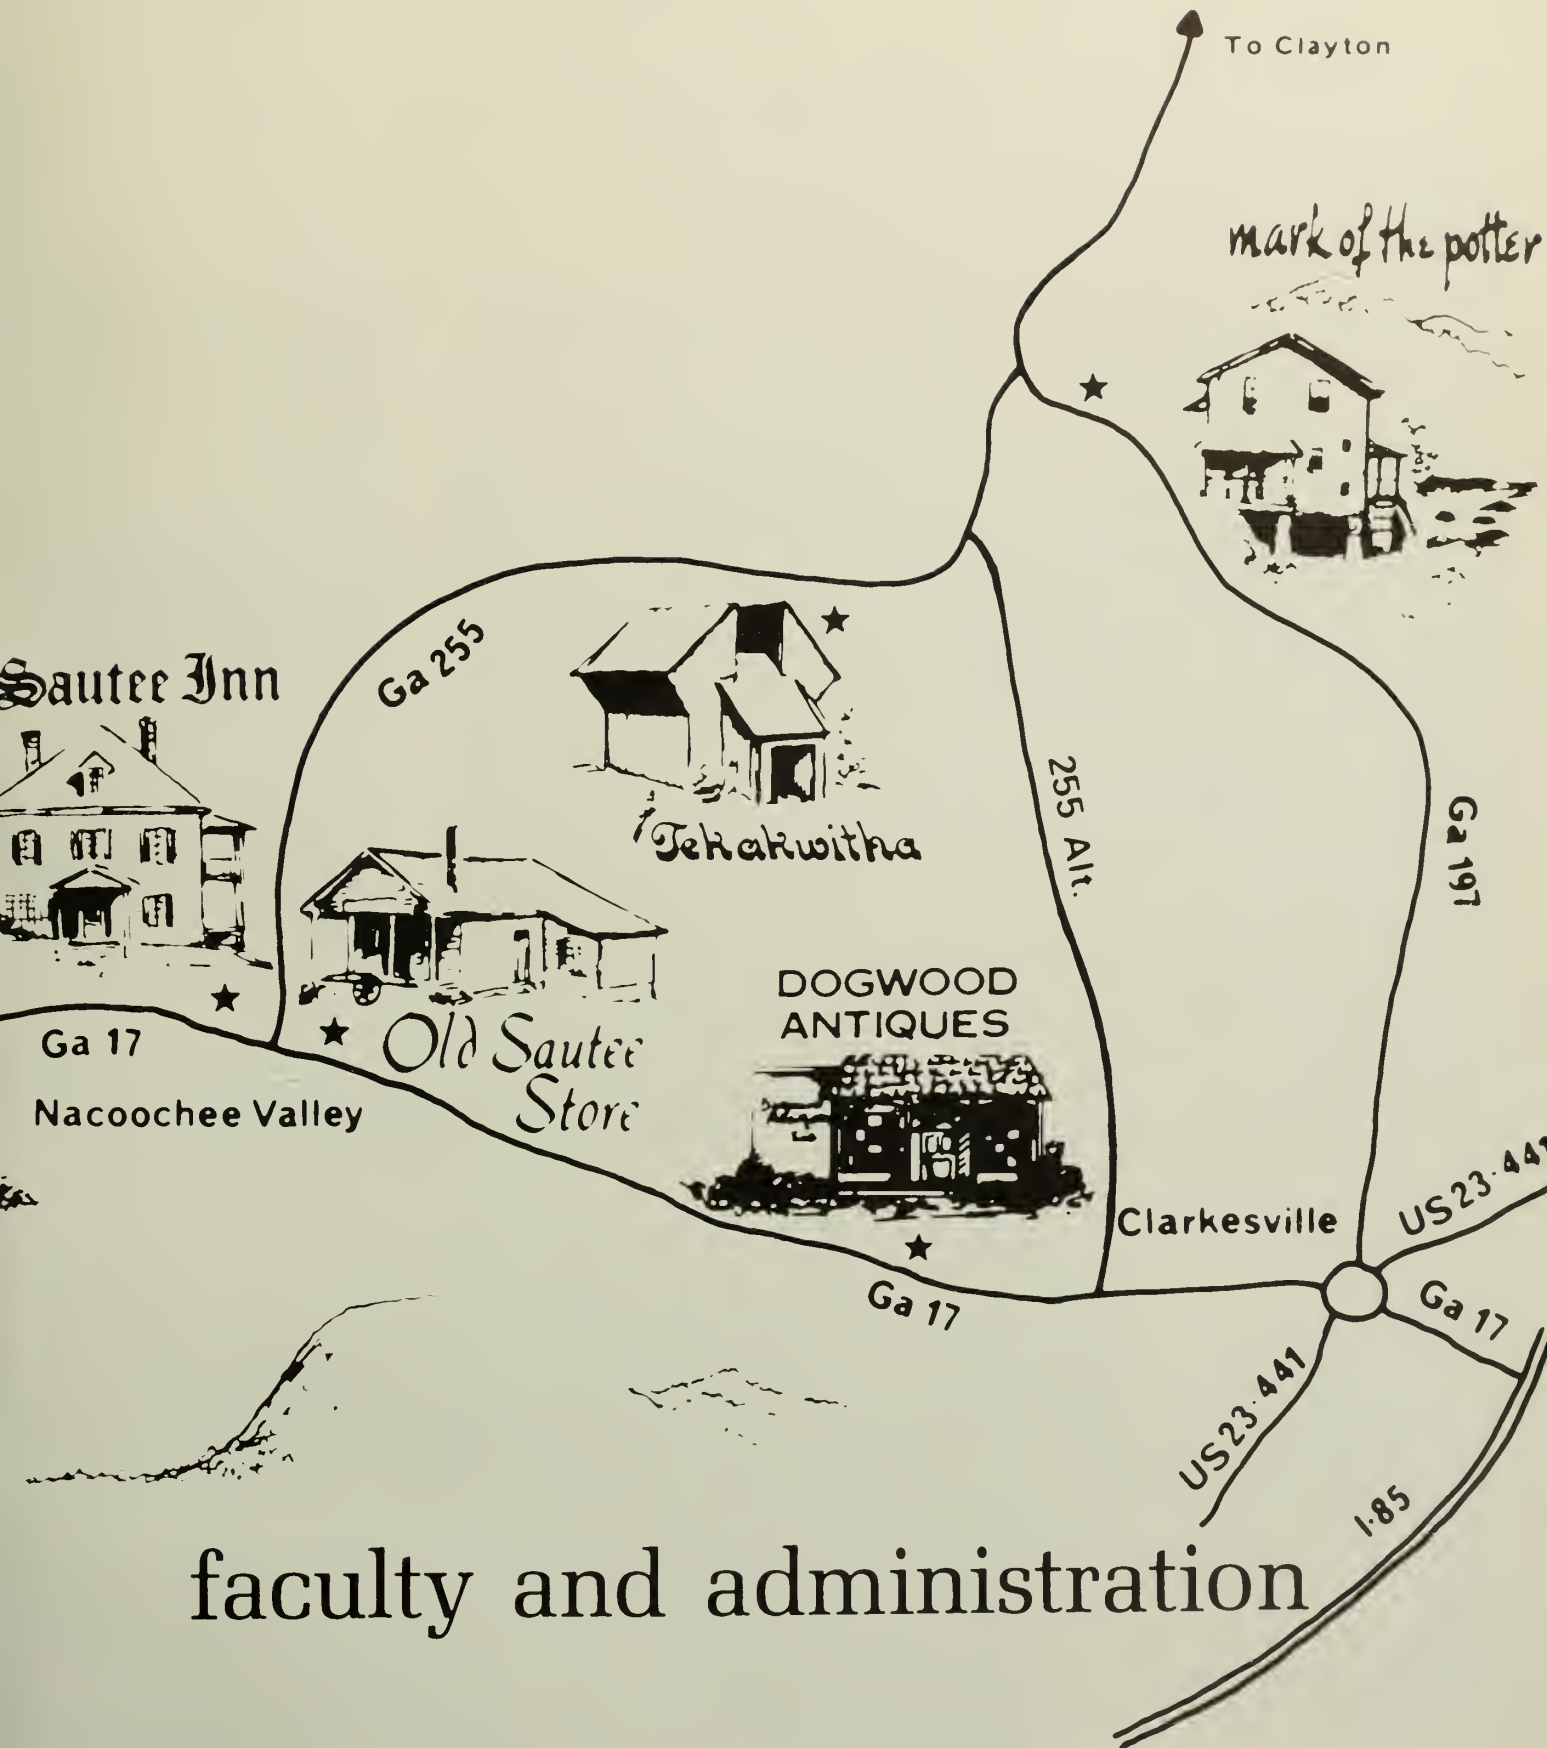

One man, drawing lumber for the Bathtub Works stood on the unloading platform ruminatively engaged with his quid of chewing tobacco, spitting first out of one corner of his mouth, then the other, said, "It will go bust." Another of his companions asked the reason for the dire prophecy.

"Well," was the reply, "In the summer everybody goes to the lake, and in the winter it's too cold to take a bath."

fine arts department

This year Walter Morgan heads the Music Department. And once again there is a minor in music being offered. Mr. Morgan directs the choir that graces the Wednesday morning Chapel service with special music. There is also a band this year. Because of this department's efforts we have an Ensemble that strikes up the team and crowds spirits as well as their tunes.

Walter Morgan is originally from the state of Wisconsin. He received his Masters of Music Education from Roosevelt University in Chicago. He and his wife Janet have two daughters: Paulette and Elizabeth. Mr. Morgan has several special interests including golf and participation in community musical groups.

The Art Department welcomes its new head, Miss Mize, this year. In the past few years the only course offered in Art was Art for Elementary Teachers. Under Miss Mize's able guidance the horizons in Art are being expanded. With the Art class headquarters on the first floor the Department's future looks bright.

Dianne Mize is from Carnesville, Georgia and graduated from Franklin County High in 1960. She received her B.A. Degree from Newberry College in 1964. She is single and currently lives in Clarkesville. She has instructed art classes at several area high schools. Miss Mize has also directed a program for Gifted Students in Walker and Stephens Counties. She is presently enrolled in the graduate program of Goddard College.

department of business administration

The Department of Business presently offers a major in Business Administration and Accounting. Upon graduation the student is a candidate for a wide range of business and accounting opportunities. It is hoped that in the future a minor can be offered in Economics.

Clarence Roland Duncan is a native of Alabama. He has a Masters in Business Administration from Jacksonville State University. Mr. Duncan is 35 years old and his wife, Joyce, is the college nurse. They have two children Gina, age 10 and Chip, age 7. Mr. Duncan's special interests are wood working and fishing.

Jolin Chilas is originally from Athens, Greece. He received his Masters Degree from West Michigan. Mr. Chilas is now working on his Ph.D. from the University of New Mexico. He and his wife Helen enjoy writing, research and going on picnics.

The division of Education is primarily concerned with courses and programs leading to a teaching certificate in Elementary and Secondary Education. The courses cover a wide range of subjects from art to media, and psychology to student teaching. Piedmont is known throughout the south for its excellent education curriculum and qualified teachers. More than 50 percent of public school teachers in Northeast Georgia received their teacher preparation at Piedmont College.

Dr. John C. Cragg arrived as the Head of the Elementary Education Department this year. Dr. Cragg is from Clayton Georgia. He is a graduate of Piedmont College. He received his Masters in Education from Emory University and his Doctorate from the University of Georgia. Dr. Cragg has been a principal in various schools throughout the state for about 30 years. His special interests are sports, reading, boating and fishing.

Dr. Mary C. Lane is the Head of the Secondary Education Department. Dr. Lane's home state is New York. She earned her Masters and Doctorate in Education from the University of Southern California. She has a wide range of interests including Biblical Literature and History, Classical Languages, and Archaeology. Dr. Lane spent 30 years in the Women's Army Corps and retired with the rank of Colonel. She is also the Dean of Women at Piedmont and has done an excellent job.

Piedmont has three well qualified English Professors. Mrs. Martha Sikes teaches Speech and the required English courses but is most interested in French. At the present the English Department has 15 majors. The subjects offered range from remedial English, and Advanced Grammar to a wide variety of literature courses including Shakespeare, Romantic Literature, and Literature of the South.

Dr. Marion C. Hodge Jr. is a native of Tennessee and earned his Ph.D. from the University of Tennessee. He is 29 years old and his wife's name is Betsy. Dr. Hodge's special interests include baseball, basketball, chess, astronomy and Anthropology.

Dr. David L. Greene recently received his Ph. D. from the University of Pennsylvania. He is originally from Florida. Dr. Greene was married in November 1974, to the former Betty Johnson. He is best known for his scarlet sweater. He is also the Head of Piedmont's Humanities Division.

The French Department under Mrs. Martha Sikes, who also teaches in the English Department, provides the three required French courses. Although there is no major or minor in French at the present it is hoped that one will be available soon. The French courses not only provide skills in French, the Student also learns about the people and their culture.

Mrs. Martha Sikes received her Masters Degree from the University of Southern California. She is married and has two children, Matthew age five and Suzanne age four. Some of her favorite activities are tennis, golf, swimming, and reading.

Mrs. Caridad Palomares López was born in Guateinomo Cuba. She received her Doctorate in Education from the University of Havana. Mrs. López has provided Piedmont College with the opportunity to learn the customs of the people in the different countries. When asked what her special interests are Mrs. López said, "Extracurricular activities of Piedmont"

The Spanish Department has five majors and the department is growing rapidly. There are varying subjects ranging from The Spanish Novel, Conversation and even studying abroad. The Spanish Department has a Spanish Honor Society for those who have a "B" or above average. They put on different programs during the year.

physical education department

Oneal Cave has been affiliated with Piedmont College longer than anyone else here today. He and his wife Kathleen arrived at Piedmont in 1948. They have three children: Kathy, Jana, and Neal. Coach Cave received his B.S. degree from Georgia Teacher College in Statesboro, and his Masters Degree from Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee. Coach Cave is the Head of the Physical Education Department and Director of Athletics. Piedmont has a minor in Physical Education. Upon graduation, the student can teach P.E. and coach.

history department

"Currently there are approximately 20 declared History majors (Bless them each and every one!!!). Need for additional information about the History Department will be satisfied by seeing 'Occupant' Room 318, Danial Hall."

Dr. R.B. Singer Jr.

David Garen Simmons is originally from West Virginia. He and his wife Kay have three children. Mr. Simmons received his Masters Degree in History from West Virginia University and is currently working on his doctoral dissertation at the University of Georgia.

mathematics department

The Mathematics Department provides a wide range of elective courses from Remedial math and Calculus to Linear Algebra. There is also a program for Secondary teachers of Mathematics.

Dr. Mary Griggs is a native Georgian and has lived in Gorgia most of her life. She went to the Piedmont academy and received her A.B. from Piedmont College. Last June Miss Griggs received her honorary doctorate in Education.

Donald Ryder although born and raised in California is a graduate of Piedmont College. He received his Ed.S. from the University of Georgia. Mr. Ryder is 49 years old and is married to Ruth Thompson Ryder, they have two sons Rick and Art. His special interest is sports.

The Department of Psychology has a wide variety of courses. Majors in psychology find a large field of jobs open to them. Upon graduation, graduates are employed in social, clinical, and behavioral psychology. They can also be psychologists or can go into the teaching profession.

Dr. Donald D. Moore's hometown is Thomasville, N.C. He received his Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina and has done additional work such as counseling internship, N.C. Baptist Hospital, and Yale University School of Alcohol Studies. Dr. Moore has three children, Lori, Jonathan and David. He is also the college chaplain. This year the department is glad to welcome Dr. Moore.

sociology department

In the Department of Sociology courses are offered in a variety of subject areas. Majors in sociology are, upon graduation, qualified for employment in a variety of professional fields. Teaching and social work in governmental agencies are the two most prevalent employment areas.

Dr. Larry L. Jaques's home state is Missouri. While there he received his Doctorate in Education. He is 33 years old and lives in Demorest with his wife Paula and their daughters, Kelly and Gailene. Dr. Jaques's interests include reading, camping and various athletic activities.

The Division of Natural Science includes Biology, Physics and Chemistry. Dr. López is in charge of the Biology department. The course offerings include pre-medicine, pre-nursing and medical technician. The Physics and Chemistry Department has eight majors at present. Recently there is an increased emphasis in areas such as astronomy, computer programming, and environmental science.

Dr. Rupert J. López is a native of Cuba and received his Doctorate in Education from Motanzas and Havana University. Although he is still very reminiscent of his home country Dr. López claims Georgia as his home state. His wife's name is Caridad and they have two daughters, Thais and Casilda.

Mr. T. Boyd Moore was born in Texas but has lived in Georgia since 1959. He received his Masters Degree from the University of Georgia. Mr. Moore and his wife Ruth have two boys, Andrew and David. His special interests include Organ, Piano and Pipe organ building.

science department

Dr. Phillip M. Iloff Jr. received his Ph. D. at Stanford University in his home state of California. He has two children, Phillip and Helen. Bicycling, chess, and photography are three hobbies that Dr. Iloff enjoys most.

the piedmont lions

The Piedmont Lions started out the 1974-1975 season as every other year, full of hopes. Every player went on the court to play his best and they showed enthusiasm that seemed to be unending. The idea of a winning season was soon out of view and although the stands were not as full as in years past the team played on. The year's record does not do justice to the players because some games were real heart-breakers. Those of us who faithfully attend the games thank the team for their hard work.

The Piedmont Lions Baseball team is not publicized as much as it should be. This is a group of hard working men who dedicate time in the Fall, Winter, and of course the Spring to the sport. The team is made of students almost exclusively from the North East Georgia area. Coach Ryder is ably assisted by Mr. David Simmons. Under their supervision an excellent baseball team has emerged. Last year they were third in the conference and we are sure they have only just begun.

A black and white photograph of a two-story building with a sign that reads "The Quilting Place". The building has a light-colored, possibly white, exterior with horizontal siding. There are two windows on the second floor, each divided into four panes. Below the sign, there is a central dark door and two large display windows on the ground floor. The left window shows a quilted item, and the right window shows a light-colored garment. The sign is mounted on a horizontal band across the front of the building. Bare tree branches are visible in the foreground and background, suggesting a winter or early spring setting.

Standard

The end of another school year.

You know, ever since we first opened our doors, back in 1911, we've been watching the young people of Toccoa go through school and on to other things. Like college. And work.

And we've grown up with them all. We've helped young people continue their education with loans to get them through those college years. And we've helped young families get started and helped them plan for the future. Helped them with things like personalized checks and a safe place to keep their money. And car loans. And loans for their first homes.

We're proud of the part we've played.

So come in and see us . . . and let us help you with your banking needs.

We like helping young people . . . at the Bank of Toccoa.
